NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Miss Annie Hile, of this place, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Hile, of Clearfield today and will spend several days within the confines of the Smoky City.

Your Curwensville letter man was informed yesterday that here were at the present time, two or three cases of scarlet fever among some children within the confines of the borough limits and that one of the cases was of a very serious nature and the child near Death's door. We are in hope that the information will prove incorrect, but should it prove otherwise every precaution should be taken by all households to stamp out and remove from their premises everything that would tend toward starting that much feared disease among the children.

McKinley's American Legion Cornet band despite the inclemency of the weather, gave one of the most delightful musical concerts on the Bank corner Monday evening. The numbers on the program had been carefully selected and rendered in a manner denoting that first class musicians were handling the instruments that sent the vibrating notes and softening sounds in the air. Despite the fact that a heavy rain fall was expected every minute, the large crowd which stood on the four corners of the streets remained on the ground until the last number on the program had been completed. The Legion band is fast coming to the front, among Clearfield county musicians, that will soon enable that organization of over sixty pieces, to be placed on the list among cornet bands as one of the best to be found anywhere in Western Pennsylvania and a great deal of the credit be attributed to Mr. J. M. McKinley, the leader and instructor.

The body of Private Ralph Campbell arrived from France on Saturday. Private Campbell was a member of Company K 319th Infantry, 80th Division. He was killed in action November 1st, 1919 after having enlisted April 2nd, 1918. He was a fine soldier and one of the men who was in constant action on the firing line.

The funeral will be held from the Lutheran church at Bloomington on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The funeral will be in charge of Joshua Earl Sipes Post No. 505 Full military honors will be accorded this brave and patriotic young man. He is survived by father, mother and one sister.

The Ladies Adult Bible Class of the M. E. church held their regular monthly business meeting in the basement parlors of that edifice last evening. After the business session terminated the members of the class wended their way to the home of Mrs. James C. Norris, North Walnut street and participated in birthday celebration. All present said they spent a most enjoyable evening. The class had taken refreshments along with them when they went "a callin on Sister Norris," and at a suitable hour the repast was served out to all, which made the time spent a double pleasure. The hostess was not only greatly surprised but pleased to see such a number of her Sabbath school friends in her home on this particular occasion.

The day school opened with a large attendance of scholars. B. H. Long is the teacher.

Rev. Geo. H. Van Note attended the group conference at Clearfield on Monday in the Trinity M. E. church.

BUSINESS AND TRADE

News of Local Interest
With Special Attention to Coal, Clay and Brick Trade

THE COAL MARKET

The total number of cars loaded in the central Pennsylvania bituminous district for the month of August was 76,300. Loadings for the month of July were 51,100, or a total gain in loadings for August of 25,200 cars.

This is comparative with a maximum loading for the district during the month preceding the strike, October, 1911, when the district loaded 110,000 cars. While the gain is no much, the producers accept it with feeling of optimism and believe that the volume of tonnage that will move from now on will continue to increase to some extent at least. It is believed that the larger volume of tonnage moving will tend to increase the prices a little. At the present time prices are at their lowest ebb, and the union fields of central Pennsylvania the spot price on all grades of coal is below the cost of production.

REFRACORIES

The market is not selling even as well as building brick, and the decline of demand in this branch of the trade which began some months ago has continued. Furthermore, no indications of improvement are to be noted. Many manufacturers have found it necessary to close down entirely, and others are operating on a less than 25 per cent basis. Stocks in general are large, but as a result of curtailed production are being slowly liquidated.

Prices of refractories suffered further reductions about August 1 of from 6 to 10 per cent and are now 25 per cent below the quotations of January 1. Labor costs have been reduced, and the hourly wage for unskilled labor, reported by manufacturers outside of Philadelphia, is less than 30 cents.

Collections are fair and have shown no change since last month.

LUMBER

July was the dulllest month for the lumber business, in point of production and sale, since early in the year. Statistics published by the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association show that the total of lumber cut and the totals of orders and shipments, of all members throughout the country, were smaller in July than in either May or June, and that the ratio of orders and shipments to the lumber cut also declined, which would indicate an increase in stocks. As the demand for the higher grades of lumber is good, some mills make it a practice to continue production, sell the better stuff, and store the remainder. Consequently, the stocks of low grade lumber are still large. Dealers have fairly well disposed of surplus supplies and are preventing undue accumulations by purchasing only in small lots for immediate delivery.

There is now a better feeling throughout the industry, as inquiries have been stimulated by the revival in building trades strike on August 1. Almost all of the lumber now sold is or use in general building construction, the demand for industrial purposes and shipbuilding and from the railroads and the furniture trade being practically nil. Wooden box manufacturers, however, have been fairly active.

Lumber prices have been reduced to greater extent than those of other building materials, but they are still early 100 per cent above the pre-war figures. Nor have they come down as much as the general price level. Some grades have probably reached bottom, but not all. Competition is serving to bring prices down, but for some months now the rate of decline has been rather slow.

Labor has caused no especial difficulty in the lumber trade proper. The early deflation of prices in the industry was made possible largely by extensive wage reductions in southern mills. Labor seems to be quite plentiful throughout the Third Federal Reserve District, and the hourly wage for unskilled labor as, in general, suffered reductions. One firm in the northern part of the state reports that it is paying $1.75 for a ten-hour day. Collections are generally said to be fair.

Mothers.

This will interest you

This is how we safeguard the health of your children!

Children are the greatest consumers of ice cream, and they should be for it is the finest food they can eat. But the ice cream you give them must be the best.

To make it 100 per cent safe for you, and your children, we are spending thousands of dollars manufacturing ice cream under the patented Heathmade Carbonated method, science's newest and greatest contribution to food sanitation. We consider the added cost worth while because it makes it 100 per cent safe for you and your children.

Heathmade Ice Cream is always the purest

Prof. W. P. Heath, a specialist in food purity, discovered that he could increase the purity of ice cream to an infinite degree by freezing it in a sterile, germ-proof atmosphere instead of with air, which is never perfectly pure.

We have secured the rights to manufacture our ice cream under the Heath patents. This super-pure ice cream is what we offer you.

Do you know what makes Ice Cream smooth?

If you examine ice cream under a microscope you'll find that it is full of tiny air cells, or bubbles. It is these minute cells of air which make ice cream eatable instead of being frozen hard like ice. Ordinary ice cream is frozen with air. Air is always dangerous in food. When you put up fruit you fill the jars full, then you sterilize them to drive out all air and seal them tightly with rubber rings to exclude all air. If you don't you know they will spoil.

The air which will spoil canned fruits or vegetables should not be used in making ice cream. So we freeze our ice cream in a sterile atmosphere of pure, germ-proof gas. We substitute carbonation for aeration. So we add a final safeguard around this delicious product.

KEYSTONE is Carbonated

Carbonating ice cream increases its flavor and richness. You may have noticed how carbonated water brings out the flavor of fruit juices and syrups in your ice cream soda. Carbonating ice cream has the same effect.

It makes a richer, more appetizing, smoother ice cream. An ice cream you will like much better and which the kiddies will love. Give them all they want of this wonderful ice cream. It is splendid food for their growing young bodies. It will make them ruddy with health and strength.

When you ask for ice cream insist on being served

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

"By Skinny"

METHODISTS SHOW BIG GAIN

Chicago, Sept. 8.—A net gain of 1,255,091 members has been made by all divisions of the Methodist church in the United States in the past ten years, despite great losses suffered by the denominations during the war, according to statistics compiled for presentation to the decennial Ecumenical Methodist Conference which opens in London next week. The figures, compiled by the Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, of Plainfield, N. J., former Director of the United States Census, were made public here today.

Methodist Sunday schools in the United States, however, the report says, show a net loss for the two years, 1918 and 1919, of 293,968, an appalling figure, although 1920 returns indicate that "the lost ground is being regained." Notwithstanding that Sunday school pupils of the denomination in this country were 200,000 less in number in 1920 than in 1918, the enrollment throughout the world shows an increase of 1,289,036 Methodist pupils for the ten-year period.

"This year 1919 was the hardest the churches of America have known at least since the Civil War. Methodism in most of its branches suffered, with the other evangelical denomination, actual losses. The Methodist Episcopal church suffered most of all, losing 43,262 in 1918 and 59,987 in 1919—103,249 in two years—and the conditions were even worse if we leave our foreign missions fields, for the net loss in this country alone in 1919 was nearly 70,000. The Methodist Episcopal church South, lost 16,404 in that year. In 1920 the tide turned for all evangelical churches, heavy gains succeeding the losses.

ESKIMO LAND NOT SUCH A BAD PLACE AT THAT

Up in Eskimo land a man can take as many wives as he can conveniently support and when the flour barrel begins to get empty and the man of the house becomes short of kane he can replenish the larder by disposing of one or more of his female encombrances. For instance take the experiences of John Littlebear as an example.

John is a trapper. He resides in the frozen stretches to the north of the Bruchette fur post of the Hudson Bay company now closing out its lands in the prairie provinces to the south to farm settlers. John recently disposed of four wives in twelve days. All being especially beautiful, he received the top market price. Each wife brought one pound of tea and two plugs of tobacco.

"Dropping off ballast," was John's laconic explanation to interpreters. The trip had been longer than anticipated. John had promised his full set of wives their annual outing. But supplies ran short. There was a glut of wives and not a loaf of tea or tobacco. One by one the dutiful wives were dropped.

Purchasers, report says, were fellow tribesmen returning from the fur post heavily laden with supplies. They had long admired John's handsome wives and were ready bidders. But under the rigid unwritten laws of Eskimo land the original owner may redeem his wives by payment of double the purchase price. Enroute home John will recover his property even at the risk of shattering new romances.

"AMERICANS SHOULD BE PROUD OF WORK BY NEAR EAST RELIEF"

Says American High Commissioner. Congress Is Told of Great Accomplishment

Washington.—The annual report of the activities of the Near East Relief organization, filed with Congress by Charles V. Vickrey, General Secretary, constitutes the modest history of one of the greatest pieces of philanthropic work ever undertaken and carried through by American men and women, according to well informed persons in the capital. Admiral Mark L. Bristol, United States High Commissioner to Turkey, for example, declares:

CHARLES V. VICKREY

"I have been closely associated with the work of the Near East Relief committee for about 22 months. On the whole the work of this relief committee has been such that Americans should be proud of this great humane effort. The Near East Relief here in Constantinople is run more like a business organization than any relief organization with which I have ever come into contact."

Charles V. Vickrey's summary of the activities of the Near East Relief shows the disbursement of over $60,000,000.00 in cash and supplies, contributed by the American people to the salvaging of the Christian populations of the Near East. 711 American and Canadian men and women relief workers have been engaged in this huge task on little more than a volunteer basis. 63 more than a volunteer basis. 63 hospitals, with 6,522 beds, and 123 clinics; 11 rescue homes, where young girls rescued from lives of shame in Turkish harems are taught to forget their sufferings, and to begin life anew, self-supporting and independent, are maintained.

110,000 Little Children
The most remarkable feature of the work of the Near East Relief is, however, the salvation of tens of thousands of children who have lost parents and relatives during the past six years. For these little ones American generosity has provided, through the Near East Relief, 239 homes, one in Alexandria, Armenia, housing 18,000 children—where, last year, 54,600 children were housed, clothed, fed and taught, while an additional 56,039, outside the Near East Relief orphanages, were saved from starvation and death by food and clothing sent them from the United States.

Mr. Vickrey's report states that approximately 2,796,490 Armenians are still living in the Near East, out of a pre-war population of over 4,000,000 and estimates that had it not been for the aid given by the American people through the Near East Relief, fully half of those now living would have perished. Food was furnished to 561,370 homeless refugees during a large part of 1920, while 300,000 garments, comprising 1,500,000 pounds of clothing sent out from the United States were distributed to barefoot and rag-clad wanderers, all the way from Mediterranean to the Caucasus mountains.

Work Must Continue
Commenting on these figures Mr. Vickrey stated that "this distinctive humanitarian relief work, as an expression of brotherhood, should help to mark the beginning of a new era of peace and inter-racial good will in the Near East."
"The tremendous task undertaken by the American people in saving the children of the Near East is one which cannot be left unfinished. We have an investment of over $60,000,000 in human life, that America has saved. If we falter or pause now, that investment is imperiled, or may even be lost altogether. Most of the children we have saved from death are still too little to take care of themselves, and conditions throughout the Near East are still too uncertain to let them shift for themselves. It is morally sure that for at least five years, and until these little ones that we have snatched from a terrible fate are able to support themselves and enjoy an even chance of life as useful citizens, the American people who have rescued them must see them through."

"It is the purpose of the Near East Relief to do just this, and we appeal to the generosity of the American people to see this noble work is carried out in the spirit of mutual helpfulness and Christian charity which is so essentially characteristic of the American ideal."

Contributions to the work of the Near East Relief may be sent to Cleveland H. Dodge, Treasurer, 1 Madison Ave., New York City.

SIX MONTHS OF HARDING
(Philadelphia Evening Bulletin)
Labor Day incidentally marked the completion of Warren G. Harding's first six months as President of the United States. In that fractional period he has allowed the nation sufficient opportunity to judge him as man and Chief Executive, with the result that he stands as high in the esteem of the people as their most sanguine hopes anticipated. The President's character has impressed itself on the country as that of a sterling American of the type which wins its way into the affections of men and women because it is associated with the great heartedness which makes the whole world kin. His administration, free from parade or ostentation, has made him stronger with the public than is his party in Congress, despite its enormous Republican Congress. In the field of world politics his international policies have gained him a prestige which is all the more forceful and influential because the nobility of his ideals, which foreign rulers and statesmen eulogize, is conjoined with obvious practicality. The civilized world looks with hope to the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments, as realizing the pledge to "unite America behind the plan for an association of nations, which we may join with safety, honor and good conscience." The Knox-Porter resolution and the treaty confirming it has established peace with Germany, and the final formalities only await the prompt ratification of the compact by the Senate. The promised investigation and survey of the Government departments with a view to their re-organization on lines of economy and efficiency is progressing satisfactorily under the President's personal supervision. Such cuts in expenditure as were feasible have been made by the Administration, but Congress has lagged in the duty of retrenchment. Revision of taxation is a legislative function. While the Senate and House are divided on a revenue program, the President is not chargeable in any degree, with the tardiness in relieving the public of burdensome taxation. A national budgetary system has been introduced as an important forward step toward retrenchment. These are outstanding achievements and account for the cumulative confidence which the nation feels in the President.

Despite the warning put forward by Gifford Pinchot regarding Henry Ford's offer for the Muzzle Shoals nitrate plant, there seems to be a few people left who come forward in defense of Henry's offer. The latest news from Washington brings out the fact the Water Power League of America, whoever they may be, heartily endorsed Ford's offer in a recommendation sent to Secretary of War Weeks. Their contention is that while Ford's offer may not be the best which some leading conservationists could conceive, nevertheless it seems to be the only real offer as yet submitted. It appears their stand in the matter is "Needs must go when the devil drives."

With unemployment apparently growing slowly, the man who has been out of a job for weeks, and even months, does not take kindly to the meanderings of politicians and others who talk loudly about "unemployment situations" and discuss measures for relief. The fellow who is out of a job has found by experience that the only way he can get a job is to get out and hustle to beat the other 5,999,999 who are also out of work, to it.

Favoring the name of a private soldier who gave his life for his country during the world war, to that of "some illustrious general," an American Legion post of Minneapolis, Minn., has petitioned the city board of education to name a large new high school there for Cecil Kyle, who was working his way through college by selling newspapers and tending cows when he enlisted.

Words Have Changed Meaning.
The word "charity" is one which has come to be an awful cropper. It is used almost exclusively now days to mean dependence upon doles and gifts, while the word "impartiality" has gone through a remarkable change. It now means "biasy." Originally it meant a remark that was not pertinent to the subject under discussion, and finally got to mean a remark to be resented.

WINBURNE
That Mrs. Margaret Hurling, who passed away August 31st, was held in very high esteem was evidenced by the large number of mourning friends who attended the funeral services at the late home Saturday evening. The officiating clergymen were Rev. L. N. Leith of Watsontown and Rev. Benjamin Thomas of Winburne Presbyterian church of which the deceased had been a faithful member Sunday morning over sixty friends of Mrs. Hurling shared the service and respect by accompanying the cortege in automobiles to Lock Haven where interment was made. The floral tributes were numerous and very beautiful.
Among out of town mourners at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Laurie of Houtzdale and William Fleming of Johnstown.
We are glad to learn that Mr. John Henry, who has been attacked by typhoid fever is now convalescing nicely.
Gustave Nelson of Lansie was united in marriage to Mr. Anderson of Culterton, Wednesday August 31st at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Bergquist in Allport. There many friends tendered them a reception the same evening in the Lansie Free church. The happy couple will reside in Lansie.
Of great interest to many people is the wireless telegraph station belonging to Rev. Andies Alm and erected at the home of Carl Johnson of Lansie.
Cooper township schools opened last week with a large enrollment. In the high school building there are 200 students, while Winburne has over 100.
Mrs. William Hunter and Rev. Thomas were delegates to the County Sunday School Convention held in DuBois Tuesday and Wednesday. They report very interesting meetings.
Mrs. Harry Conaway entertained the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society at her home in Kylertown Thursday evening.
Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Sommerville, Mrs. Mary Sommerville, and Miss Platt have returned from a delightful automobile trip to Chambersburg, and are enthusiastic over the beauty of the Cumberland valley as viewed from the Lincoln Highway.
His Philosophy
"I've never worn out the knees of my trousers playing far run" says the Village Deacon, "in what's more I ain't a goliath. I can run a shoe if I want to. I can run a shoe if I want to. I can run the world in 10 minutes. I can't give directions to the other line."—Atlanta Constitution

A WOMAN'S BACK
The Advice of This Clearfield Woman is of Certain Value
Many a woman's back has many aches and pains. Ofttimes 'tis the kidney's fault. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective. Ask your neighbor. Many Clearfield women know this. Read what one has to say about it. Mrs. Paul Kline, 326 Sixth Ave., Clearfield, says "My back ached and throbbed all the time and it was particularly painful for me to bend over. The trouble kept me awake at night and I got very little rest. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I got some at A. M. Thatcher's Drug Store. Three boxes entirely removed the trouble and since that time, my back and kidneys have given me no annoyance." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that M. Kline has. Foster-McLubin Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Great Men Once Book Agents.
Longfellow, Mark Twain and Bret Harte were among the subsequently famous authors who bridged poverty-stricken periods by peddling the works of already successful writers. Daniel Webster also hunted up orders for books, paying his second term's tuition at Dartmouth college by acting as agent for De Toqueville's "America," and Bismarck in his early days at Heidelberg canvassed for one of Blumenbach's hand-books.—New York Evening Post.

A World In Need.
A little boy was beating a rug in a back yard with all his might. After each stroke he gazed up into the sky. "What on earth are you doing?" asked his mother. "Sending some dust up to God," was the reply, "so's He can make some new people."

"Ves" Tibble his name; Hicksville his station. But the gods had given him syncopated feet. One day he struck New York.

His regular job was brushing the dust from Uncle Enoch's moth-eaten jug business. For a dollar a day and experience.

His secret side-line was a "Pierre" and la Peonie" dance in Broadway's classiest cabaret. For $200 a week and the love of a wonderful girl. Until one night—!

THE GRANARY

THE FARM JOURNAL SAYS:

Some of the hardest nuts to crack have the sweetest meat inside.

Folks say "as cool as a cucumber." How cool is a cucumber, anyway?

It is pretty hard to convince a rat that folks leave cheese lying around just for its benefit.

The hen has a right to kick; she is never so much as allowed an egg of her own production.

We are firm believers in healthy sports, but hay pitchers are more necessary than baseball pitchers.

All the hothouse grapes in the world can't compare with a purple cluster picked in your own arbor.

Two swallows don't make one summer, but three or four swallows make a man think twice before he speaks too hastily.

SEPTEMBER FARM FACTS

It cabbage heads begin to crack before one is ready to use them, they may be bent over so as to break roots on one side, and the growth will be checked.

Hens that delay moulting will be slow in starting to lay next winter. Two tablespoonfuls of oil meal to every quart of morning mash will help them, and also furnish extra protein for the new feathers.

Fullen leaves make fine material for the hens' scratch shed. Gather after one or two heavy frosts, and store in a dry shed. They are rich in expensive fertilizer elements, and make the poultry droppings more valuable.

In these days much thought is given to the selection of corn for next year's crop. And great improvement has been made in corn the past twenty years just because of this close selection. But the potato has been overlooked to a large extent. A selection of the biggest and finest looking potatoes at the time of digging, just the same as seed corn is selected at harvest, is worth while.

Frequently in the middle west there is a drouth about September and the pastures get perfectly barren. Wise then is the farmer with an acre or two of sorghum and cow peas, getting ready for mowing. If this is not available, green field corn is good. Such feeding gives the pastures a chance for fall growth.

A trip through the country this month will show many farm lawns brown and thin. September is a good time to prepare for a better lawn next year. A few loads of manure spread carefully, then plowing, and then a coating with several loads of woods lint, will give a foundation for as perfect a lawn as ever grew.—Farm Life.

A THOUGHT FOR THE MONTH

All the editors in the world are always telling all the people in the world what to do. It is fortunate, perhaps, that all like people do not always do what all the editors tell them. But the editors should worry! Having given the advice, their responsibility ends. They go ahead, blithely or bitterly, as the editorial temperament chance to trend, and give out more advice. This particular editor is like other brethren in the field. He is full of good admonitions, if not of good deeds, and would like to emphasize a thought for the month. He advises you to be cheerful, to resist the prevailing contagion of capricious criticism, and to read the Sermon on the Mount. We can't reform the world by barking at it. We can only make ourselves and others a bit uncomfortable. There is just as much practical wisdom in the words of the Master today as when he uttered them two thousand years ago when he went up into a mountain and taught his disciples. When we get mad at everybody, and smart with a sense of the seeming injustices of the world, if we get down the good book and read the fifth, sixth and seventh chapters of Matthew, how our worries and vexations fade away!—Farm Life.

The Folly of Cheating Nature

Many people get the idea that they can keep their nerves on edge and their digestion upset year after year, and "get away with it." They sleep only half as much as they should—and never get properly and thoroughly rested.

If you tire out easily, if you are getting pale and anemic, if your food doesn't digest as it should, would it not be well to stop and consider whether coffee or tea is having its effect on you?

The caffeine and their found in coffee and tea are drugs, as any doctor can tell you. Is it any wonder that the steady use of these drugs sometimes causes serious damage?

If you really want to be fair with yourself, and give yourself the opportunity you deserve in order to do your best work, make up your mind to quit coffee and tea for awhile—and drink delicious, appetizing Postum instead.

Postum permits sound, refreshing sleep which builds strength, energy and endurance.

Order Postum from your Grocer today. Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for 10 days and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.
